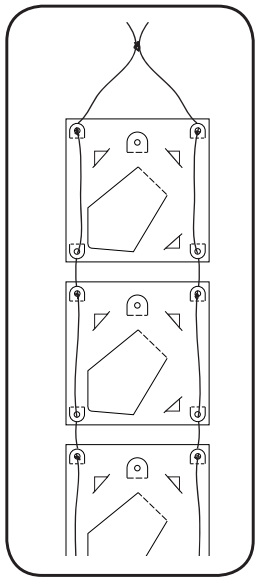
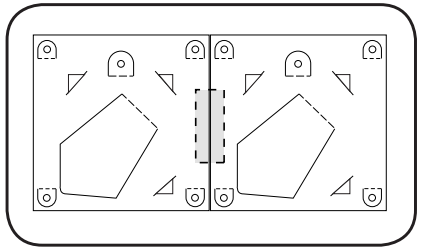
FRAME OPTIONS:

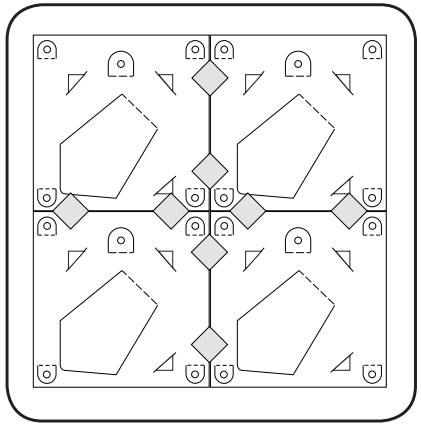
The frames that came with this kit can be attached to each other in interesting ways. Here are a few ways we like to attach them!



1. Once you have assembled and decorated two or more frames, string them together to create a hanging set of frames. Lay the frames face down on your work surface. Locate the four small circular tabs with the holes in them. Bend the tabs out so that you can thread a cord through the hole. Arrange the frames face down in the order you desire. Thread your cord through the top and bottom holes on one side of the frames. Repeat using a second piece of cord for the second side of the frames. Tie knots on the cords to keep the frames in place and evenly spaced. Tie the cords together at the top and hang.



2. Once you have decorated (insert the pictures but do not tape or glue the frame together) two or more frames, attach them together with a hinge in the center. Remove the long creased piece of cardboard from the center of the frame. Glue one side of the hinge between the frame front and back. Repeat with the second side of the hinge and the second frame. Repeat this as many times as desired to make an accordion of frames. Make sure the frames are glued together securely. Let dry.



3. Once you have assembled and decorated two or more frames, attach them together to create a large panel of frames. Place the frames face down on the work surface in the arrangement you desire. Remove one of the square pieces of cardboard from the center of the frame. Glue it to the back of two frames were they join. Repeat at all the joints. Let dry completely. Display as desired.
