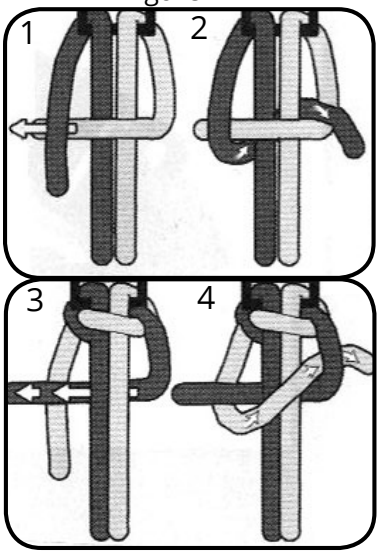
Figure B



INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Pre cut for each bracelet: one 1 yard piece of cord and one 2-yard piece of cord.
2. Fold the 2 cords in half and tape the half way loop to the table. With the longer cords on the outside and the shorter cord on the inside, line up the cords as in Figure A., to begin the knotting.
3. Bend the right hand cord over the top of the two center cords. Bring the left hand cord over the top of the tail, under the two center cords and up through the loop caused by the first cord. See Figure B. Pull tight.
4. Continue by repeating steps 3 and 4. If you loose your place, just remember where you see the lump on the side from the previous row, that is the side where you make the next loop to start a knot.
5. Continue knotting until your bracelet is long enough for your wrist. Slip the pony bead onto the two center cords and make one more set of knots. Pull those knots tight and snip any excess cord. You may want to put a small dot of glue onto that last knot to hold it tight.
6. Using the loop created at the beginning of the bracelet, put the bead into the loop to fasten the bracelet on your wrist.
